EverReady Thursday – Message of the Week

10/31/19

Hand Hygiene

Practicing hand hygiene plays an important role in protecting the patient, the health-care environment, and yourself against harmful germs. Remember to clean your hands during the following moments:

- Before and after patient contact
- Before an aseptic task
- After an exposure risk to body fluids
- After removing PPE and glove removal
- After contact with patient surrounding

Questions? Contact ARL@Stanfordhealthcare.org