Co-creating a Caring-Healing Organization through the Application of Caring Science Practices

SPEAKERS:

Stanford Health Care
Caritas Coaches share practical approaches for integrating Caring Science into real-life practice scenarios.

Stanford Health Care (SHC) Caring Science journey began in 2007 with a purposeful mission to deepen the understanding of Caring Science through the intentional integration of theory-guided practice principles into the fabric of the organization. The Watson Caring Science Institute (WCSI) and Dr. Jean Watson recognized Stanford Health Care as a National Watson Caring Science Affiliate System™ in 2015 for exemplary integration of caring theory and leadership commitment to Caring Science practices. Focusing on praxis, research, education, and legacy, Stanford Health Care has led a number of initiatives and specific activities that have defined our Caring Science Strategy over time.
