MENTORSHIP IN ACTION: EMPOWERING NEW GRADUATES IN CRISIS SITUATIONS

JACQUE BASA, BSN, RN
CLINICAL NURSE II (L5 AAU)

During a recent challenging shift, Jacque Basa, BSN, RN, Clinical Nurse II (L5 AAU) -- a mentor in Stanford's New Grad program, demonstrated exceptional leadership and support.

When a patient rapidly desaturated, Jacque guided her mentee through their first rapid response. With calm assurance, she simplified the process, ensuring her mentee understood each step.

Jacque's mentorship not only prepared her mentee for future crises but also boosted their confidence. Her dedication highlights the vital role of mentorship in empowering new graduates and fostering supportive RN-RN interactions, even during daily workflow
