About the Future Stanford Hospital & Clinics

Stanford Hospital & Clinics is renovating and expanding its facilities to accommodate new medical technology, increase capacity needs, and meet seismic-safety requirements. The Future Stanford Hospital Project includes the construction of a new 824,000 square foot hospital building, including all private patient rooms, an enlarged Level-1 trauma center and Emergency Department, as well as new surgical, diagnostic and treatment rooms.

Site preparations began in November of 2012 and the project broke ground on May 1, 2013. The hospital will open to the public in 2018.
